CORRESPONDENCE

Queen's Hotel, Edmonton, June 14, 1938.
Editor Blairmore Enterprise.

Sir: I would very much appreciate if you would see your way clear to publish the following:

I wish to thank you, sir, for the cooperation extended to us through your valuable paper, and wish to further enmesh by expressing my appreciation to the various Imperials who responded with the detail requested by me.

Owing to the innumerable letters received by this office, I would like to take this opportunity of informing those who so expeditiously communicated, that their information will be forwarded to the proper authorities, and their individual correspondence will be answered as soon as pressure of work permits.

Thankfully yours,
WILLIAM HINSHALWOOD,
Secretary-Treasurer,
British Imperial Veterans Ass'n,
Edmonton Branch.

Holy's garage and warehouse in West Coleman suffered from fire to the extent of about $3,000 early Wednesday morning.

The African Zulu Giants will stage an exhibition baseball game at the Natal ball park against the Natal Miners on Sunday afternoon.

In the Union elections at Bellevue on Monday the following were returned: Ostrenski, president; Masera, district, where he was buried by an vice-president; J. Dugdale, secretary-avalanche of snow while skiing December 31st last.

HEATON - COSTICK

An event of considerable local interest took place in St. Luke's Anglican church, Blairmore, on Saturday last, when Kathleen Louise Costick, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Costick, of Bellevue, became the bride of George F. Heaton, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Heaton, of Park Ranch, Mayeroff.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Mrs. R. Upton, of Bellevue. She was attended by her sister, Dorothy, as bridesmaid, and by Betty Darby and Willoughby Utley, who looked very sweet as flower girls.

The bride looked especially charming in a dress of white satin, cut in very simple lines, but which showed to advantage the head-dress and the wedding veil, which is a prized family possession, considerably more than 100 years old, and which has been worn four generations back. She carried a bouquet of roses.

The groom was ably supported by Mr. Errol O'Sullivan, of Tod Creek.

After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Mr. Hague, of Coleman, a dainty luncheon was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Costick, in Bellevue. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. G. Heaton, Mr. and Mrs. T. Heap, Mr. and Mrs. R. Lynch-Staunton, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Robert, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Cox, Mrs. L. G. Darby, Mrs. R. Upton, Rev. Mr. Hague, Mr. E. O'Sullivan, Mr. G. Heaton, Jr., and Mr. T. Heap, Jr.

The happy couple left for Victoria and other points by car, and upon their return will take up residence at Mayeroff, Alberta, where Mr. Heaton ranches on a large scale.

TUSTIAN-STAFFORD NUPTIALS

A wedding of considerable interest was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Pincher Creek, on Saturday last, when Miss A. Maude, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Stafford, was united in marriage to Mr. S. Bradford Tustian, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tustian, of Cowley, Rev. R. Magowan officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was charmingly gowned in flowered blue organdie and carried a bouquet of roses and carnations. Her sister, Mrs. R. McKinnon, was matron of honor. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Arthur Tustian.

A buffet luncheon was served after the ceremony, and later, the young couple left by motor to honeymoon at points in Alberta.

Mr. and Mrs. Tustian will reside in Blairmore, where Mr. Tustian is employed with the C.P.R. as operator.

CARD OF THANKS

Miss Genovesi, who for the past three years has been teacher at the Coalfields school at Beaver Mines, has tendered her resignation.

Tea and Sale of Home Cooking, to be held in the Anglican hall on Saturday, June 25th, from 3 to 6 p.m., under auspices of Crows' Nest Chapter L.O.D.E.

Mrs. Thomas Clark (nee Hazel Enrie) arrived Sunday night from Vancouver, on an extended visit with her parents here, Mr. and Mrs. S. Enrie. Mr. Clark hopes to reach here some time later to join Mrs. Clark.

We understand that Wednesday, July 27th, has been chosen as the date for the 1938 celebration of the Castle River Stampede Association, at which that great old warhorse, Wall Eddy, will be doing his stuff.

Frank Bennett, formerly of Lundbreck, but of late residing at Turner Valley, was recent victim of a car accident. His injuries were such as to require him to remain in hospital for a week or so. The car was left in total wreck.

ROBERT BARNHILL

LAI D TO REST

The remains of the late Robert Barnhill were laid to rest Sunday afternoon, following service at the United church, conducted by Rev. A. E. Larke, and assisted by Rev. Roy Taylor, of Coaldale, during which Mrs. Larke sang "The Old Rugged Cross."

Pallbearers were A. Morency, J. Packer, H. Sales, R. Pinkney, J. R. McLeod and S. G. Bannan, with the following acting as honorary pallbearers: Evan Morgan, J. Baird, T. J. Williams, D. R. McKay, Isaac Rae, J. Funke, A. J. Pitt and S. Ennis.

An old-timer of the district, Mr. Barnhill came to Canada from Ireland some sixty years ago, and had resided in Alberta for about forty years, twenty of which he spent in Blairmore. He is survived by his wife and one son, Robert.

LAST RITES FOR "TINA" HOWE

Throng of people, particularly school children, turned out on Sunday afternoon last to pay their last respects for Christina Howe, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Howe, who passed away on Friday morning.

An impressive service was held in the United church by the pastor, Rev. A. E. Larke, at which a beautiful duet was rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Larke.

Pallbearers were Charlie Pilfold, Douglas Allen, Robert Erikson, Norman Walker, George Oliver and Stanley Comfort.

Honorary pallbearers: Greta Cawsey, Iris May, Rose Oliver, Shirley Bannan, Catherine Patterson and Isabel McLean.

"Tina" was born at Bideston, Suffolk, England, and came to Canada with her parents when but a few months old.

A. V. Bourcier, Dr. J. L. Robinson and Mrs. Gostick, M.L.A.'s were in The Pass the early part of the week conferring with local authorities on unemployed and relief matters.

Grapefruit is being grown in Drumheller. A plant, standing eighteen inches in height, is now in full bloom, and a tiny grapefruit has made its appearance.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Howe and family wish through the columns of this paper to express their gratitude and appreciation to the many friends for floral tributes, letters, cards and other tokens of sympathy with them in their recent bereavement. Also for assistance given during illness and for use of cars as funeral.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. Kovach and family wish to thank all those who in any way helped them in their recent bereavement. Those who loaned cars, and special thanks to Father O'Dea, of Bellevue. Also for mass cards, Miss Sophie Kubik, Dad and family, Mary and Ann, sisters; flowers: Dad, Mother and family; the Michalsky family; Mary and Ann; Mr. J. Weber and Mary; Mr. and Mrs. F. Mitchell and family; Mr. and Mrs. F. Weber, Blairmore; Miss E. Cartwright, Blairmore; Kenneth Rhys, Hillcrest; Mr. and Mrs. A. Tortorelli and family, Blairmore; Tilly, Bill and Dorothy.

GRACIOUS and SINCERE is the appreciation felt towards all who showed so much thought, kindness and sympathy during the sudden illness and death of Mr. Robert Barnhill, senior.

Respectfully submitted by
and
ROBERT

HILLCREST COLLIERIES

LTD. REPORT LOSS

Montreal, June 22.—Hillcrest Collieries, Limited, in liquidation since April 7, had net loss before depletion of $28,078 between January 1 and April 7, the liquidators reported Monday in a condition statement. For the year ended December 31, the company had net loss of $41,168 before bond interest.

The company, with head office here, owns coal mines at Hillcrest, Alberta. The report shows current assets at April 7 as $93,763 against current liabilities of $104,365. The liabilities figure does not include accrued bond interest and property taxes due and accrued.

The liquidators assert in the report one of the problems to be faced in the liquidation is the question of interest default on $325,000 five per cent first mortgage bonds in the public's hands. The interest is due September 1st.

Joe Louis retained his world heavyweight title by kaying Max Schmeling in two minutes plus four seconds of the opening round of a scheduled fifteen-round bout at New York on Wednesday night. Max was floored three times.

Constable Klassen, until very recently connected with the Blairmore detachment of the R.C.M.P., found the great and noble army of benedictus as next to commanding officer at Regina on Wednesday. No particulars are at hand as we go to press.

Annual services of decoration were observed by the Oddfellows and Rebekahs at Bellevue on Sunday afternoon last, following a memorial service held in the hall. Fifteen graves of former members were visited in the Bellevue cemetery, and four at the Hillcrest cemetery.

The remains of Mike Kovach, who died at his home near Burns, were laid to rest at Coleman on Saturday morning, following requiem mass celebrated at Holy Ghost church by Rev. Father Dunbar. Surviving are his father, six sisters and four brothers.

Floyd Waldie and Frank Celli have taken over the Palm Confectionery at Coleman. The Palm has been operated for some years by Mrs. Lysek and the late J. Lysek, but was formerly owned and operated by Frank Celli, Frank's father, now resident of Creston.

The Canadian Forestry Association's travelling tree-planting car is making its annual tour of the province. This railway coach, equipped with motion pictures and lantern slide machines, is touring the prairie provinces for the thirteenth year. The car is being financed by the member-line elevator companies of the Northwest Grain Dealers' Association. At the end of May, 48 tons had been visited and 128 meetings held, with a total attendance of 17,000.

How about the effect of Aberhart's legislation on those people living beyond Alberta's borders? One-quarter of Alberta mortgages belong to life insurance companies and serve as security for the fulfillment of the policies issued on the lives of people all over Canada. Another quarter belongs to trust and loan companies whose monetary advances represent the savings of thousands of working people in Canada, United States and Great Britain. Here is a thrust against the savings of people who gave the Alberta government no mandate to rehabilitate the province by dishonest dealings. The obligations which are to be written off by this legislation were contracted for in good faith and such one-sided alteration of debt obligations is destructive of the confidence of private business, both in Canada and abroad.—Canadian Business.

For a view of excellent grain crops, one should tour the South Fork country, anywhere between Cowley or Lundbreck and Beaver Mines. There isn't a poor crop to be seen, except where no effort has been made to kill weeds or cultivate or seed. In general, the weed problem appears to have been mastered.

Vincent Macchione, 36-year-old Sicilian railway worker, has for the third time been convicted and sentenced to death for the murder of Michael Hudock. This time he is to hang on October 26th. It's the eighth time a date for his execution has been set. Clement Carmichael, his defense counsel, stated he would seek a new trial.

Resolutions passed at a meeting of farmers and taxpayers of Livingstone Municipal District, held at Cowley, included: opposition to the Agricultural Land Relief Act and domination of the Alberta Teachers' Alliance; abolition of the board of reference; opposition to the obligation of teachers in Alberta to join the A.T.A., thus making it a closed shop union; and dissatisfaction at the 45 per cent increase in cost of education for no better service. Roy Taylor, M.L.A., was present at the meeting and registered his disapproval of such resolutions being brought to the attention of the premier, minister of education and himself.

A Vital Issue

With the march of time and as the question becomes increasingly ventilated in the press and on the public platform evidence emerges that many conflicting viewpoints will have to be reconciled or compromised before the Canadian constitution is amended or redrafted to the satisfaction of the people generally.

Until the report of the Rowell Commission on Dominion-provincial relations is published it is conceded that little action can be taken as the country is generally of the opinion that considerable weight will have to be given the commission's recommendations, whatever they may be, before the first steps towards the revision can be taken.

No doubt it will be some time yet before the Commission is ready to give a considered opinion on a topic of such great importance when it is remembered that widely varying opinions have been submitted to that body to date and when the fact is taken into consideration that their decisions, if implemented, are going to involve the future welfare of the entire nation for many generations to come.

Even after the Commission has submitted its findings to Parliament, there can be little doubt that some considerable time will have to be devoted before public opinion can be sufficiently crystallized to enable the representatives of the people to decide what program should be followed if the desired objectives are to be achieved.

Must Remain Fundamental

The course that must ultimately be pursued, if the amended constitution is to be really effective, must not only reconcile a wide range of opinion, but must ensure that the new instrument is sufficiently elastic to enable it to meet future requirements in an age of changing viewpoints and of rapid progress and yet must be stable enough to ensure the retention of certain well established, fundamental democratic principles.

Having in mind these facts, or rather, these requirements, those who have had the privilege of hearing or reading the addresses which have been made recently throughout the West by Vincent C. MacDonald, Dean of the Law School of Dalhousie University, cannot fail to have been impressed with the immensity of the task ahead, of the far-reaching effects of the decisions which will ultimately be made and, therefore, of the necessity of the work being placed in the hands of men who will not be swayed by political considerations of the moment, but who are capable of bringing to bear wisdom, capacity, vision and courage.

Some of the fundamental principles which underlay the act of union and which must be incorporated in a revised constitution, as Dean MacDonald says, are the preservation of minority rights and retention of provincial autonomy.

The necessity of maintaining these two important principles can readily be understood in the light of the necessity of providing for a revised constitution which will meet with the approval of all sections of the country.

While in any democratic regime the will of the majority must prevail at the same time there are minority groups who have been accorded rights and privileges, and provision must be made for their continuance if harmony is to reign. When it is made abundantly clear that there is no intention of doing anything else but safeguard such rights some of the opposition to constitutional amendments will disappear automatically.

Obstacles To Overcome

Instanting some of the problems which have to be solved before a satisfactory revision can be implemented, Dean MacDonald pointed out that there are several obstacles to be overcome before even the necessary initial amendments can be made operative.

The first of these is the fact that the British North America Act is a statute of the Imperial Parliament and it is impossible to change it except through that Parliament. The second is the political theory that Confederation is a contract and that, therefore, the terms can be changed only with the consent of all provinces—something so impossible. The third is the difference of opinion regarding the method of changing act.

The last-mentioned, itself, is a bone of contention comprising many views which will have to be harmonized or compromised. For instance, as Dean MacDonald pointed out, there are some people who believe that Canada should get whatever amendments are required immediately. "Others would first secure the power to amend the act so that amendments can be made as they are required. Connected with this is the fact that some believe the power to amend should be acquired by Canada so that amendments could be made here while others believe the amending power should remain in London."

Enough has, however, been said to give point to the comment that the task is a big one and that the decisions which may be reached are bound to be of immense import to the future welfare of the Dominion. On these results hinge the future happiness and prosperity of a young and vigorous nation and the contentment of millions now living and millions yet to be born.

Music As Unifier

Music, Sir Hugh Robertson told the Association of Canadian Clubs, is the best "unifier" Canada could have. The distinguished adjudicator and director of the famous Orpheus Choir suggested members of Canadian Clubs throughout the Dominion might aid in the propagation of culture, a difficult problem in a new country.

Story About A Goat

Nanny drank a pan of gasoline—and then exploded. That's the story of Arnold Garlo and Melvin Miller, tenant farmers of Carlinville, Ill., as they explained the fate of their pet nanny goat. The goat drank the contents of a dishpan. Presently one of the men lighted his pipe and tossed the match to the ground. "Nanny snuffed. Her whiskers ignited. Blooie. Nanny doesn't live there anymore."

Judging by body measurements of over 500 women, a kitchen table should be 30 to 33 inches high, an ironing board 31 to 33 inches, a sink 31 to 32, and top shelves for china 72 to 74.

When something unusual takes place, many motorists quickly park their cars and join the crowd. The result often is a traffic jam and new hazards.

Famous Soilless Farm

Has Produced Its Fourth Successful Crop On Wake Island

Wake Island's famous soilless farm, built to provide fresh vegetables for maintenance men and Pacific Clipper passengers and crew members making a scheduled stop there on their flights across the Pacific, has already produced its fourth successful crop, Pan American Airways reports.

During the first ten days of May 33 pounds of tomatoes, 20 pounds of lettuce, 20 pounds of string beans, 15 pounds of squash and 44 pounds of corn were harvested from the shallow water-filled trays in which the crops are grown.

Wake Island's "farm" is cultivated according to methods worked out by Dr. W. F. Gerike of the University of California. In hydroponic farming, as the method is called, water containing essential minerals takes the place of soil. High yields of vegetables can be grown in surprisingly small areas. Wake Island's small area and the expense of shipping or flying in food supplies make adoption of the system there imperative.

HARD LUMPS CAME ON HER LEGS

Ankles and Feet Swollen With Rheumatism

Rheumatism sent this woman to bed with humps, swellings, and innumerable "Y's" symptoms. They soon disappeared, as they always will when the root cause is removed. The letter tells you the method she used—

"I was taken ill with terrible rheumatism in my legs. They were badly inflamed, swollen, and they were partly covered with red, hard lumps. To put my foot down to the ground was agony. After I had been in bed for 10 days, suffering agonies all the time, my husband said: 'You can't go on suffering like this, let us try Kruschen Salts.' He got a bottle, and almost from the first I felt better. Before long, I was completely relieved—swellings, inflammation, and lumps all gone—and I am up again and doing my housework."

(Mrs.) E. L.

Do you realize what causes a good deal of rheumatic pain? Nothing but sharp-edged uric acid crystals which form on the redness of the joints, eliminating organs. Kruschen Salts can always be counted upon to clear those painful crystals from the system.

A Perfect Quartz Crystal

One Of Largest And Finest Was Mined In Brazil

Ending a journey of more than 7,000 miles on mule-back, boat and railroad, a sixty-three-pound perfect quartz crystal, one of the largest and finest ever mined, arrived at the Bausch & Lomb Optical Company, Rochester, N.Y., from a mine in the province of Minas Geraes, 1,500 miles from the Brazilian seacoast.

Found in a region famous for its gem stone output, this giant crystal of quartz a dioxide of silicon chemically identified with ordinary sand, will be used in the manufacture of special lenses for microscopes. Quartz, unlike glass, passes ultra-violet light, commonly used to obtain extreme magnifications. Scrap quartz of high quality, left over from lens and prism manufacture, is used as part of the "melt" in making optical glass.

Teach Aerial Navigation

Diploma Course Established By The University Of Toronto

Establishment of a diploma course in aerial navigation was announced by the University of Toronto. Honor matriculation will be necessary for admission to the course, which begins October 1.

Instruction in mechanics, applied physics, chemistry and other studies will lead to qualifying examinations for commercial and transport pilots, navigators, dispatchers, operating meteorologists and radio operators. The course will cover two years.

Millions Of Refugees

There are now 60,000,000 civilian refugees in China, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, national chairman of the United Nations Committee for Refugees, estimates. Most of these, he said, are without food and "facing epidemics constituting the greatest health danger that the world has known since the black death of the middle ages."

The population of Wales, which showed a steady increase for 120 years has been decreasing for 10 years.

The King's Gift To Boston

Oak Sapling From Windsor Park To Be Planted

An oak sapling from Windsor Park, a gift of the King, will be planted on Boston Common, in Massachusetts. It is being carried to the United States by representatives of all ranks of the Honorable Artillery Company, who will take part in the three-hundredth anniversary celebrations in Boston of their regimental offspring, the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts, which was founded in 1638 by a London member of the H.A.C. who sailed to New England with the Pilgrim Fathers.

Last summer a delegation from the American regiment came to London to honor the four-hundredth birthday of the H.A.C.

The King is a member of both regiments, Captain General of the H.A.C. and honorary member of the Massachusetts company, and his gift of an oak sapling will be accompanied by a bronze tablet bearing the Royal Arms and a suitable inscription.—Manchester Guardian.

Giant Airplane

United States Army's Newest Bid For Air Supremacy

A land 'plane, capable of flying to Europe and back without refueling, is a guarded military secret at the Douglas Aircraft plant in California. The formidable bomber is the army's newest bid for air supremacy.

Aviation circles are confident the new Douglas, when completed, will span almost 250 feet from wingtip to wingtip and will weigh about 160,000 pounds.

That would be nearly twice the wingspread and thrice the weight of any land 'plane yet built. That also would be the answer to the United States' military need of long-range striking forces in the air.

If adapted to peacetime use, the plane would be in the 100-passenger class of airliner.

Largest land 'plane in the world to-day is the army's Boeing XB-15, with a wingspread of 150 feet and gross weight of more than 60,000 pounds.

Selecting Art Exhibits

Canadian Paintings And Sculptures Will Be Shown In London

An exhibition, "A Century of Canadian Art," representing Canada's achievements in painting and sculpture during the past 100 years, will be held at the Tate gallery in London this fall, it is announced by Vincent Massey, Canadian high commissioner. The exhibits are to be selected in Canada and will be shown at the gallery for two months from Oct. 14. The Duke of Kent has accepted an invitation to open the exhibition. An advisory committee composed of the presidents of the Canadian artists' societies has been collaborating with the National gallery in selecting the works to be shown. About 200 pictures and pieces of sculpture will be included.

Not Very Dignified

May Be Reason Elderly Man Discontinues Favorite Stunt

W. Maurer, a retired farmer of Dale, N.Y., was persuaded recently to forego his customary birthday stunt of standing on his head. He is 83 years old. It is not reported just how Mr. Maurer was persuaded, but the classic presentation of the negative in a precisely similar situation runs: "You are old, Father William," the young man said, "And your hair has become very white; And yet you incessantly stand on your head—Do you think, at your age, it is right?"—New York Times.

Educational Leaders In China Not Drafted For War

While China has a sufficiently large reserve of arms to last two years, she refuses to draw on the ranks of students and educational leaders to man the guns, Rev. Dr. A. E. Armstrong, chairman of the United Church's foreign missions board, told Montreal and Ottawa conference.

Such men, he said, are not permitted to enter the army because they will be used after the war to direct vast reconstruction work.

Undermines Character

Professor Tells Graduates Devotion To Swings Music Is Harmful

A University of Pennsylvania professor told Keuka College graduates that the minds of America's "litterbugs" devoted to a "master of swing" will never "lay hold upon anything worth while in life."

Delivering the baccalaureate sermon before 52 seniors at the girls' college, Prof. John Langdon Jones of the Romance language department brought up the subject of swing music in connection with character and "what your choices are doing to you spiritually."

"There is no more conspicuous illustration of this sort of thing than in our taste for popular lyrics," the educator, who is a member of the Keuka College board of trustees, said. "Mark you," he explained, "do not leave the room when I hear a lulling tune; an occasional bit of frivolity and silly music I can conceive as being diverting. That is not what I mean."

"It am speaking of the impact upon the reason and upon the soul by things to which we give a superficial devotion; of what happens to people when they have to be keyed up to this or that popular air; when high school students, as they did in Philadelphia not long ago, practically stampeded the streets to be 'litterbugs', giving witness to their devotion to a 'master of swing.'"

He said that type of person will have a "cheap standard of values to which things of beauty and a beautiful life will have little appeal. Nor will their minds lay hold upon anything worth while."

Ride Burning Plane

Riding a burning airplane to earth at Ontario, California, Pilot V. Darnell and three companions escaped unharmed from the wreckage. Engine backfire ignited the fuselage. Darnell shut off the ignition and side-slipped leeward from 200 feet altitude. The plane landed in a plowed field and overturned. It was destroyed by fire.

FEW CHANGES ARE NOTED IN DUNNING BUDGET

Ottawa.—Canadians may look forward to a possible deficit of $22,000,000 in their national accounts for the present fiscal year but they will not be troubled with new taxes. Many, notably farmers, fishermen, fur-farmers and those who build houses will secure relief from the sales tax on essential commodities.

The eight per cent. sales tax remains in operation but the list of exemptions is widened to include all major building materials. This provision, it is expected, will cut building costs by eight per cent. Of benefit to farmers is the exemption on harness, harness parts and harnesses used in harness construction. Materials used in making gopher poles are also exempted. Feed for fur-bearing animals will not be taxed, nor materials for fixing fishermen's boats.

Delivering his fifth budget speech, Hon. C. A. Dunning, minister of finance, informed members of the House of Commons of the financial state of the nation. He found it sound internally but he was cautious in predicting the possible increase upon Canadian economy of world factors.

The budget was months later than usual owing to the prospect of including in it a new trade treaty with the United States. Negotiations at Washington are still proceeding and, while he would make no predictions as to their outcome, Mr. Dunning said Canada could not give to-day and bargain tomorrow. For this reason there were no tariff changes.

It was the first time since 1912 the national budget made no change upward or downward in customs duties. In that year there was a special reason as a new finance minister, Sir Thomas White, had just taken office and a tariff commission had just been organized.

Under somewhat similar circumstances with a treaty in the offing the 1932 budget contained only one tariff change. At that time the imperial economic conference was about to meet in Ottawa to draft the empire trade agreements and Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, was minister of finance.

The projected deficit of $22,000,000 for the present year compares with an over-all deficit of $13,775,000 for the year ended March 31, nearest approach to a balanced budget since 1929-30. Mr. Dunning expressed disappointment he had not achieved a balanced budget although last year he had forecast a possible deficit of $35,000,000. Had it not been for drought in Saskatchewan and the necessity of adding $5,000,000 to annuity reserves he would have achieved his goal.

For the present year Mr. Dunning estimated expenditures at $524,600,000 against an actual outlay of $530,467,000 last year and revenues at $501,700,000 against last year's returns of $516,892,000, highest in Canada's history.

While he did not believe the deficit would be larger than disclosed by these figures it might be much smaller. If the western crop was good, if business revived in the United States and other countries and if the Canadian construction industry responded to governmental assistance it would be.

Throughout his speech, Mr. Dunning stressed the soundness of Canada's internal economy and its susceptibility to influences from abroad. The major influences presently affecting it and likely to continue were business recession in the United States and dangers of war in Europe.

"The world itself is not in a healthy condition," he said, "and Canada's economic relations with the outside world reflect the disturbances beyond our frontiers."

"I see no reasonable hope of restoring normal trade relations except by a vigorous prosecution of the policy of tariff reduction through bilateral trade agreements; a policy for which this government has stood since its entry into office."

"For better or for worse the force of circumstances has eliminated at least for the present the alternative approaches of unilateral or universal action."

The government through agreements with the United States and the United Kingdom had already gone a long way in reducing trade barriers. It did not propose to reduce tariffs on its own, as neither the United States nor the United Kingdom was prepared to do this.

Sudeten Demands

Conciliatory Measures May Be Taken By Czech Premier

Praha, Czechoslovakia.—Cabinet ministers examined a revised list of Sudeten German demands for minority rights.

The session followed 24 hours of almost continuous discussions of the nationality problem by Premier Milan Hodza; his government colleagues and Nazi-supported representatives of Konrad Henlein.

It was announced Hodza told the Sudeten German leaders he would base further negotiations, in a few days upon his own proposed minority status and the Sudeten German demands. But statements from both camps indicated the Germans were holding out for:

1. Equality of status between Czechs and Germans in Czechoslovakia.

2. Recognition of 3,500,000 Sudeten German population in Czechoslovakia as a legal entity.

3. Recognition of German territory as distinct from Czech territory.

4. Entire self-government in such territories.

5. Minority protection for Sudeten Germans living outside such recognized territory.

6. Reparation for damages caused to Sudeten Germans since 1918 by "unjust" measures.

7. Establishment of the principle of German officials for German territory.

8. The right of individuals to acknowledge their German nationality and their adherence to the German political ideology.

There would be more conciliatory than the eight-point program Henlein announced April 24, when he asked for termination of the Russian-Czechoslovak alliance and recognition of the Sudeten Germans' right to agitate for Nazi ideas in Czechoslovakia's German-inhabited districts, among other demands.

Ceremony Interrupted

Delegates Paying Tribute To Poet Were Challenged By Farmer

Aylmer, Que.—An irate farmer with a shotgun interrupted a solemn ceremony, attended by some of Canada's leading poets, held under the pines at "Brotherhood Wood," near here as a tribute to the late Archibald Lampman, one of their most brilliant fellow craftsmen.

The poets attending the Canadian Authors' Association meeting in Ottawa came shortly after midnight to the grove where Lampman found inspiration for some of his noted works.

Suddenly the solemn communion was shattered by an excited farmer with a shotgun bursting in on the gathering to demand the "trespassers" leave his property.

The purpose of the meeting was explained. The farmer's anger subsided but he remained, gun at hand.

Air Mail Contract

Vancouver Alderman Wants Explanation From Ottawa

Vancouver.—Alderman H. D. Wilson, chairman of the Vancouver civic airport committee, said he would demand "full explanation" from Ottawa authorities as to why Vancouver and British Columbia were "kept in the dark" regarding awarding of an air mail contract to Yukon.

George C. Herring, Ottawa director of air mail services, announced here a contract had been signed three weeks ago with the Ginter Coots Airways, Limited, subsidiary of United Air Transport, of Edmonton. The route agreed upon will take the planes to the Yukon by way of Fort St. John, B.C. Vancouver interests had urged a coastal route by way of Prince George, Hazelton and Atlin.

Rust In Kansas

Destined To Take Heavier Toll Of Wheat Than Expected

Topeka, Kas.—Black stem rust has developed extensively in Kansas wheat during the last two weeks, and losses caused by late freezes are becoming more apparent in south-central counties as harvest progresses, the federal state department of agriculture said.

The report said rust "seems destined to take a heavier toll of Kansas wheat than was expected earlier."

Winnipeg Bond Theft

Winnipeg.—Police said they were investigating theft of $10,000 worth of registered government bonds, taken from a Winnipeg Grain Exchange office recently. They refused to divulge the name of the office from which the bonds, including $4,000 worth of negotiable papers, were missing.

MORE BRITISH SHIPS ARE SUNK BY AIR BOMBS

Madrid.—Insurgent air raiders wrecked four foreign ships, including two British vessels, in a terrific onslaught on Valencia harbor and eastern seaboard where refugees were streaming south.

Insurgent bombs again found a target in the British freighter Thurston, leaving the ship in flames at her dock. The Thurston, last bombed June 7, was believed lost.

The 5,625-ton British steamer Seaphar was holed below the waterline and was slowly sinking.

(Lloyd's reports from Marseille said the 1,235-ton British steamer Lucky had been bombed and sunk at an unspecified spot in the Mediterranean.)

Two French vessels also were victims of the raids. The 500-ton freighter Gaulois was sunk and the two-masted sailing vessel Karber also sank after bursting into flames when hit by a bomb.

No casualties were suffered aboard the vessels in port because the crews had sufficient time to escape the air attacks.

Paris—France's mobilization orders are printed and ready for use in every commune in the republic. Premier Edouard Daladier announced, but added that his government was doing everything within its power to avert a European—and world—catastrophe.

The premier, speaking to the executive committee of the Radical Socialist party, said Great Britain and France are determined to conduct "preventive diplomatic action based on moderation and firmness," and to work shoulder to shoulder in rendering non-intervention effective in Spain.

"It has been reported," Daladier said, "that the white posters of mobilization were on the table of the premier of France the Sunday of the Czechoslovak elections."

"The posters are still ready, in every French commune, and the problem of the government is never to find itself forced to post them."

Speaking after news reached here of the sinking of two French vessels by insurgent Spanish planes at El Guao, port of Valencia, Spain, premier Daladier said: "France remains not only loyal to non-intervention but determined to see it enforced."

He added: "As in all international understandings this policy should be loyal and reciprocal and simultaneous. It is toward that end that we are now directing our efforts."

Opposes Sweepstakes

Ottawa.—Sweepstakes are detrimental to the nation and to the individual according to the settled experience of mankind down through the centuries, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, told the House of Commons as he opposed the bill to legalize lotteries for the benefit of hospitals and universities.

The bill before the house only a few minutes at the end of the private bill hour.

Empire Exhibition Attendance

London.—A total of 2,945,752 visitors from all parts of the world have visited the empire exposition which opened early in May at Glasgow, Lieut.-Colonel John Colville, secretary of state for Scotland, announced in the House of Commons.

LLOYD GEORGE INSTALLS IRRIGATION PLANT.

Lucknow, India.—One of the worst cholera epidemics in modern history has taken 12,000 lives in the past seven weeks in the United Provinces, an area in India's extreme north. Two thousand died in one week alone. British and Indian medical authorities have mobilized hundreds of physicians to combat the disease.

Taking Over New Job

Sir John Reith Appointed Chairman Of Imperial Airways

London.—Sir John Reith, director-general of the British Broadcasting Corporation, was appointed chairman of Imperial Airways to speed up the development of Great Britain's civil aviation.

Sir John Reith is 48. Born in a Scottish manse, he began life as an engineering apprentice in Glasgow. In 1913 he went to London as an engineer and after one year of the war went to the front with the rank of major.

He was wounded and returned home to undertake government work as a possible successor to Sir John Reith as director-general of the British Broadcasting Corporation.

A gossip writer in the Star said the name of Major W. E. Gladstone Murray, general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, was being mentioned among others as a possible successor to Sir John Reith as director-general of the British Broadcasting Corporation.

European Wheat Crop

May Be Hundred Million Bushels Less Than Last Year

Washington.—The United States agriculture department, hunting foreign markets for United States wheat, reported that Europe's crop probably would be 100,000,000 bushels less than last year.

Agriculture Secretary Wallace said effect of this decline on purchases of United States wheat had not been determined. Agriculture and state department representatives, he said, are canvassing the situation.

The European survey did not include Russia. Wallace said greatest shortages were indicated in Italy and Spain, and added he was not disturbed by prospects of a wheat surplus from about 450,000,000 and 500,000,000 bushels in the United States.

Epidemic In India

Lucknow, India.—One of the worst cholera epidemics in modern history has taken 12,000 lives in the past seven weeks in the United Provinces, an area in India's extreme north. Two thousand died in one week alone. British and Indian medical authorities have mobilized hundreds of physicians to combat the disease.

Investigation Planned

For Social And Economic Conditions In West Indies

London.—Sir Arthur Richards, veteran colonial administrator, whose main experience was gained in the far east, was appointed governor of Trinidad, Jamaica, a few hours after Colonial Secretary Malcolm MacDonald announced in the House of Commons a royal commission would be appointed to investigate social and economic conditions in the general West Indies.

Mr. MacDonald disclosed the inquiry would concern not only Jamaica, latest scene of strife between employers and labor, but would probe conditions in Trinidad, Barbados, British Guiana, British Honduras, and the Windward and Leeward Islands.

"We do not want a slummy empire," declared David Lloyd George in urging the government to probe fundamental sources of West Indian disturbances.

Sir Arthur is 53 and has been in the civil service 30 years. At present he is governor of Fiji and high commissioner for the western Pacific.

ALBERTA ACTS DISALLOWED BY OTTAWA RULING

Ottawa.—Alberta's three-year-old experiment in Social Credit government received a fresh set-back when the Dominion government disallowed two legislative acts of 1938 dealing with mortgage foreclosures and a tax on security of home owners.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced the Dominion government had exercised its constitutional power to disallow provincial legislation in respect of "An act for the security of home owners" and "An act to impose a tax on certain securities in the year 1938."

Both measures were declared to be an invasion of the federal jurisdiction laid down in the British North America Act. At the same time the government made public the report of Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, on these and seven other measures passed by the Alberta legislature on which federal action is being reserved.

The home owners' security act would have prevented foreclosure of mortgages on farm homes and, in the case of foreclosure on urban homes, payment to the owner of $2,000.

The security tax, due and payable June 1, 1938, would be imposed on the unpaid principal sum of all mortgages on property in the province. For failure to pay the tax a penalty of five per cent. of the tax for every month of default was provided.

"The legislature of Alberta has not, in the minister's opinion, and in that of the government," Mr. Mackenzie King said, "engaged itself genuinely and in good faith in the legislative field assigned to it by the British North America Act."

"The act has deliberately legislated in a manner injurious to the public interest of Canada and contrary to the clear intention of the act of confederation."

It was the second time since Premier William Abernethy inaugurated his Social Credit government in Alberta in 1935 that the federal government has disallowed acts of the legislature of that province. Three measures were disallowed last August, and three subsequent measures were referred to the supreme court of Canada and found unconstitutional. An appeal to the privy council is pending.

In summing up his report of the two acts disallowed, Mr. Lapointe said they had sought to "relieve Albertans at the expense of Canadians generally. If allowed to operate they will injure public and private credit in Canada."

Mr. Mackenzie King said it was the view of the government the two acts "form the central part of a scheme of legislation which, under the guise of establishing a moratorium on banking state claims, and of taxing property in the province, is calculated to bring about a general clearance of mortgage debts in the province."

Creditors largely affected would be the prime minister said, Dominion corporations such as insurance, loan and trust companies, established under the laws of Canada and doing business throughout the Dominion.

The two per cent. securities tax was designed, the prime minister said, "to provide revenue for the province of Alberta derived largely from sources outside the province."

The mortgage legislation would restrict the province of Alberta "to bear the burden of this scheme of repudiation and debt clearance."

FLOODS IN CHINA RIBBON OF DEATH OVER WIDE AREA

Shanghai.—The Yellow river food fed by a steady downpour of rain unrolled a ribbon of death and disaster 10 to 20 miles wide and 90 miles long across the flat plains of Honan province. Chinese and Japanese armies locked in combat on the Peking-Hankow front fled before the torrent which Japanese now estimate will take a toll of 50,000 lives.

Advices from Hankow, the provisional Chinese capital, said the relentless flood surging southward from torn dikes had penetrated beyond Xukow, 70 miles south of Kai-feng on the Lunghai railway and 90 miles south of the Yellow river.

Swamping over thousands of acres of farmland, driving peasants and armies before it, the flood was declared by Japanese despatches to have affected 2,000 villages with an aggregate population of 500,000.

Japanese bombing planes, temporarily diverted from their death-dealing activities, dropped thousands of empty bags, ordinarily used for trenches and machine gun nests, into the flood area for use by Japan's army engineers in repairing breached dikes.

Food and tools also were being dropped to isolated Japanese troops fighting the new enemy.

Chinese reports said a Japanese bombing party lost heavily in a series of air raids upon Canton. Officials claimed five bombers were shot down in the vicinity of Shikwan, north of here, when the invaders encountered 13 Chinese pursuit planes.

Air Raid Defence

British Women To Be Included In Plans For Organization

London.—Plans for formation of a nation-wide organization to include 500,000 women between the ages of 17 and 65 to aid in the defence were outlined in the House of Commons by Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare.

The organization will be called the women's voluntary services and will be headed by the Dowager Marchioness of Reading. The women would be asked to volunteer for service with hospitals, ambulance transport and evacuation of the population in case of raids.

Sold Mining Claims

Four B.C. Unemployed Men Receive $35,000

Victoria.—Labor Minister George Pearson said training in British Columbia "government mining camps" would be held for four unemployed men.

Mr. Pearson didn't say who the young men were but he said they sold mining claims they staked for that much money.

The boys, unemployed at the time, were given training in mining at a government camp on Vancouver Island in 1936. The government grubstaked them and they went prospecting. Now they have $35,000.

Air Cargoes

Ice Cream And Bottle Of Champagne

Edmonton.—Five gallons of ice cream and one bottle of champagne were among the article en route north by air in planes from Edmonton.

The ice cream was taken by Pilot Con Farrell, whose company had a standing order for that amount three times a week from Goldfields, Sask., Lake Athabasca mining centre.

The bottle of champagne was taken by Pilot North. Sawie and will be used at Waterways, Alta., in the launching of a new tug boat.

To Popularize Eggs

Publicity Campaign Proposed To Assist Poultrymen

Ottawa.—A publicity campaign to make Canadians eat more eggs was urged in the House of Commons by Harry J. Barber (Cons., Fraser Valley). He said poultrymen's associations were asking the government to spend $100,000 to popularize eggs and to subsidize the product.

Consumption of eggs in Canada had dropped 45 carloads a week in recent years.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner said the matter was receiving attention.

NATION'S CREDIT SAFE;
MONEY REVOLT DOWNED

International confidence in the inherent good sense of the Canadian people was last week confirmed when the Patterson Government went back into power in Saskatchewan.

Canada's credit was maintained. Bonds of the three prairie provinces, depressed for weeks before the election, immediately showed buoyancy and strength. Interpreted by investors as a powerful check to the growth of Social Credit and other forms of revolution, Alberta bonds participated in the gain.

Ottawa heaved a sigh of relief. So did insurance companies, mortgage companies and other institutions with a gigantic stake in the Canadian west and with a fiduciary responsibility for administration and security of the savings of tens of thousands of Canadians.

Evidence that fear of a possible success of the Social Credit party in the Saskatchewan election of June 8th had depressed the prices of the province's bonds is found in their reaction when electors gave their verdict.

In the week since the defeat of Social Credit and the return of the Saskatchewan Liberal government, Saskatchewan bonds have jumped from one to seven points.

This stronger tone in Saskatchewan bonds has been accompanied by a similar action on the part of Manitoba bonds, while Alberta issues have also been firmer with gains of from one and a half to four points.

Mortgage companies through voluntary and other debt adjustment schemes have already written off some $28 millions of debt in Saskatchewan. The financial institutions, along with insurance companies are both in a position of trust as to how they administer other people's money—the savings of tens of thousands of individual Canadians.

Hence the threatened Social Credit money revolution would have been less an attack on the so-called "big eastern interests," than it would have been an attack on a multitude of small Canadian investors, who had entrusted, often their life savings, to one of these organizations, or had made advances directly. Only about one third of all mortgages outstanding in Saskatchewan are held by mortgage and insurance companies. Others are held by individuals.

In re-electing the Patterson government the people of Saskatchewan have endorsed its orthodox financial policies.

The citizens of Saskatchewan realize that monetary schemes, such as "Social Credit" are not a cure-all for conditions of economic stress. Certainly, conditions in Saskatchewan have been much more difficult than in Alberta, and there would have been more reason for its electors being attracted by the "Utopia" pictured by the Social Crediters.—Financial Post.

Tragedy marked the opening week of the Cranbrook swimming pool, when on Tuesday, June 16th, Harold Larsen, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. E. Larsen, of Moscow, Idaho, was drowned. The Larsen family had arrived in the city but a few days previous, and were guests at the city auto camp.

POWELL'S LESSON

A tragic episode in the career of one of the imported Social Credit experts closed Saturday night when George F. Powell stepped on the Continental Limited at Edmonton on his return to England. Powell was not naturally a bad fellow, but his environment in Alberta warped his strategy. The Aberhartian fusillade against bankers and business leaders appealed strongly, but not wisely, to Mr. Powell. He printed his scurrilous attacks instead of hurling them from a pulpit. He has learned now, at the price of a jail sentence, that there are amenities and chivalrous practices in the public life of Canada similar to those in fashion in his homeland, and that while Canadians fight in their own cause, they never use poisoned weapons.—Canadian Business.

Miss Anne Yanota is up from Lethbridge on a visit to her parents.

A beautiful stand of rye is to be seen at the Cameron ranch near Burmis. It stands about three feet high and is a healthy looking crop.

Although large numbers of Waltonians repaired to the likely spots on Sunday last, very few good catches of fish have been reported.

The Pincher Creek public school will stage a convocation programme and dance on Wednesday night next—convocation concert in the opera house, and dance in the Frimac hall.

Aberhart should agree that Bible teachings make no provision for the hereafter of a Social Credit. Probably, though, he'd find some interpretation from Revelations that would fit the occasion.

The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada will distribute $3,258,450 to its stockholders on July 16th, which will increase the grand total of dividends to $76,062,947 paid within thirty years.

One hundred Roman Catholic Boy Scouts formed a guard of honor for the Holy Eucharist procession on the occasion of the silver jubilee celebrations of St. Augustine's Seminary at Scarborough, Toronto.

Refusal of the Alberta government to co-operate with lending institutions in the matter of debt adjustment is penalizing Alberta farmers millions of dollars, it was indicated today by officials of the Dominion Mortgage and Investment Association.

When Americans began to boycott "Made in Japan" goods, the Japanese renamed one of their towns "USA." They stamp a big "Made in USA" on products made there—tooth-brushes, for example—and put the required "Japan" in tiny letters, thus fooling the casual shopper.—Ex.

A special session of the Alberta legislature should be called to pass accounts contracted in our sister province of Saskatchewan, especially to pass sufficient of the funds of the poor starving-in-the-midst-of-plenty taxpayers of Alberta to meet deposit losses.

Club Cardinals Shake The Jinks

Following six consecutive losses, the Cards finally tucked a game away by defeating the Lundbreck nine to the tune of 7-6. Taking the lead in the early innings of the game, the Cards finally headed the Lundbreck squad 5-3 in the eighth. Going into the ninth, the Lundbreck boys came back strong to tie it up 5-5. In the last of the ninth the Cards staged a great rally to again take the lead and the first win this season. Cecchini, of the Cards, saved the day for Blairmore by his timely hit with three men on and two out. To top it all, he finally pulled off what was to be known as the prize boner of baseball. The game was slow and full of errors, 16 in all. Batteries: Chala, Kubik and Giacomuzzi; Evans, Pozzi and Gatto. Umpires, L. Pozzi and M. Hamilton.

SOFTBALL

There seems to be some misunderstanding about softball in town of late. B. Tedeschi and L. Pozzi, coach and manager of Ted's Cards, have registered their positions, and the team name has been changed to Thompson's Cards. Negotiations are now under way to form a strong Columbus Club team, to be known as the Club Orioles. The club has lots of material to choose from, and should field a strong team.

ATHLETES TRAINING

Have you ever strolled up to the Blairmore Stadium around 7 or 8 in the evening? If you have, you have no doubt seen the number of Columbus Club athletes training for the 1st of July sports. The club hope to have entries in all branches of sport on that day, and hope to cop a number of prizes with their boys and girls. A feature of the training programme is the relay team, which can really burn up the track. Good work, boys, and here's wishing you success July the 1st.

HEARD AROUND TOWN

Although a little ahead of time, the Columbus basketballers are now discussing plans for the coming season. This year the boys won the Trono cup, emblematic of the Crows' Nest Pass basketball championship. The boys played very nice ball, and congratulations are in line. There is talk of the club having an exceptionally strong junior team to enter the junior playoffs, and the writer of this column would not be surprised to see the junior hoop title come to town. See you next fall!

CANUCKS SUFFER SETBACK

After winning six consecutive ball games, the Canucks were finally stopped by the Natal Miners with a score of 2-1. The game was fast and interesting, and all scores were made on errors. The Canucks report the umpiring at Natal as of poor caliber, and we hope this time of the year. Batteries: Natal, Krall, Weaver; Canucks, Marconi, Gates.

Editor King, of the Clarendon Local Press, was a patient in hospital for several days prior to June the 8th. On that night, hearing of Aberhart's defeat in Saskatchewan, King was completely cured of his illness and picked up his bed and walked.

When Mr. Aberhart sings "In the sweet by and by, and by, and by, we shall meet on that beautiful shore," he means the shore of Vancouver, where he would retire and enjoy the cream of his wealth derived from a so-called land of poverty in the midst of plenty.

GOSSIP AND GOSSIPERS

The following quotation is from a sermon delivered by Rev. Dr. E. Melville Aitken at Central United church, Calgary:

"One of the most damning, soul wrecking, nation wrecking, home wrecking, church wrecking sins in the category of crime and transgression.

"Of all the sins of the tongue, I consider slander the worst. It creates war and class diversions and wrecks homes. It poisons the life of the individual who takes part in it because he looks for the worst in others and not the best. He is feeding the worst in himself and starving the best. It destroys confidence and good-will on which a better world must be built.

"The problem of gossip is not a new one, but each generation has had to face it and deal with it. There is a greater need today than ever before owing to the greatly increased speed of communication."

E. C. Cranston, of Lethbridge, has been found guilty of falsifying books of the Lethbridge Retail Merchants' Association and of Westminster church, and was remanded for sentence to tomorrow.

"In Alberta we have had three years of tortuous government, ruled by a bunch of men who seem to be doing anything and everything, but what they claimed they were going to do."—Drumheller Mail.

The full extent of Mr. Aberhart's setback will not be known until further electoral tests occur in Alberta, but his prestige has been severely damaged.—Regina correspondent to the Financial Post.

Arch Dale, of the Winnipeg Free Press, has collected a series of his cartoons on Aberhart, the famous $25 basic dividend, Social Credit, etc., really an amusing collection, recommended particularly to Social Crediters in Alberta and Saskatchewan. Only two bits.

A Nova Scotia paper, referring to the death of a prominent citizen, stated that he was a staunch Presbyterian (a good quality). If he had died in Alberta he may have been thought of as "at one time a Social Credit."

It simply rained sheets of winged insects on Wednesday morning and Tuesday evening. Some claim the insects are larvae of the cutworm; but several were of the opinion it was the aftermath of Aberhart's swamp in Saskatchewan, or the first sign of a promised dividend.

Why is Life Insurance So Safe?

Answer.—Because the institution of Life Insurance is built upon a sound actuarial basis, and upon the investment of the accumulated funds of policyholders in loans to governments and municipalities—for building homes and schools—for improving farms—for constructing good roads and transportation systems—for developing industries and public utilities.

Question.—How is the safety of these funds guaranteed?

Answer.—By the security of the governments, municipalities and properties upon which the loans are made—and the financial responsibility of the borrower.

Q.—Are there restrictions as to what type of investments Life Insurance companies may make?

A.—Yes, all investments are subject to strict governmental regulation.

Q.—What is the total amount of Life Insurance funds invested in Canada?

A.—More than Two Billion Dollars.

Q.—Has Life Insurance in Canada fulfilled every guarantee 100 cents on the dollar?

A.—Yes, even through wars, epidemics and worldwide depressions.

This is the ninth of a series of messages sponsored by Life Insurance Companies operating in Canada. The tenth, to appear in two weeks' time, will discuss how women and children benefit from Life Insurance.

OIL PURCHASES FROM MONTANA SHUT OFF BY ALBERTA SUPPLY

How the prairie west has taken over the job of supplying its own petroleum needs is one of the most recent stories in national development and was told recently at a session of the Tariff Board.

P. G. Collier, chief auditor of the Alberta Board of Public Utilities Commissioners, said that until last year the west was almost wholly dependent upon Montana for its supplies of crude oil. In 1936 nearly 5,500,000 barrels of oil were imported into the prairies from Montana.

Turner Valley came in as an oil field and prairie refiners discontinued Montana purchases to such an extent that by the end of 1937 they were taking less than 5 per cent of Montana purchases. In 1936 they had been taking more than half of it. Today practically the only Montana oil which enters western Canada comes in as refined products.

Readjustment to meet this sudden transformation was no small task. It called for construction of pipe lines, reductions in railway freight rates, expansion of refineries, and other activities. Producers in Turner Valley, handicapped by the end of the market, consumers over most of the prairie west benefited by sharply reduced prices for light petroleum products.

On this year's consumption of gasoline, distillate, and other petroleum fuels, they will save at least $5,500,000.

MAN RETIRED

Malcolm Murray, for almost twenty-two years with the C.N.R., retiring, was presented with the following address, which may be read with interest by many Cape Bretoners in this district:

DO CAIRDEAN:

The above address was delivered by William McPherson at Stellarton, Nova Scotia, who stated that such a farewell message from Mr. Murray's numerous friends was in order, and that no better language was available than Gaelic, which was his native language in Cape Breton, where hospitality abounds.

CLERGYMEN'S WIVES

It seems that clergymen's wives have regular customers for handouts of food. And our tale contains thought for all who ponder on problems of public relations.

A story going around at the moment concerns the spring house cleaning, a regular customer and an ordinary window blind. The latter item was one of a dozen or more on a chair in the kitchen porch when a regular customer was given breakfast. The housewife was momentarily absent when the customer departed. An hour later, when the windows were ready, the blinds were sought. One was missing. The regular on his next visit was told that no more food would be given out, because the blind was missing. The regular denied the theft; the lady was adamant. He went breakfastless away. But he was back the next day with the report that he had seen the missing blind in a second-hand store, and if the lady would give him 15 cents he could buy it for her. She gave him the fifteen cents. Half an hour later he returned with the blind, and thereby regained his former right to one breakfast per week or thereabouts.—The Printed Word.

OWNER OF CAR RESPONSIBLE THEN, WHY WORRY?

A man can be guilty of driving to the common danger when it is known that he was not driving the car at the time of the offence.

Vancouver police found P. Sutherland's car being driven to the common danger, but were unable to ascertain who was driving it. Under the Motor Vehicle Act, the owner is responsible for his car, so Sutherland was summoned to police court. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined.

It has not been ascertained who was driving the car at the time of the offence.—Vancouver Province.

OLD-TIMER OF DUCHESS, C. J. HOLE, SUCCUMBS

Duchess, June 15.—The community was shocked last Thursday, June 9th, to learn of the sudden death of C. J. Hole, who died following an operation in Bassano hospital.

The deceased was born in Norway on May 18, 1869. He came with his parents to Minnesota in 1879, and later moved to Waterton, South Dakota, where he married Amanda Pederson Sorvik in 1901. In 1910 he moved with his family to Alberta, where he resided until death.

He leaves his wife; one son, Harold, of Duchess; five daughters, Mrs. J. A. McDonald, of Coleman; Mrs. Wintle, of Duchess, Anna and Ruth, of Duchess, and Laura, of Calgary; and one brother, Amund J. Hole, of Houston, Texas.

Services were held from Duchess Monnet Church on Monday, June 12th. The funeral was attended by a large number of friends, neighbors and acquaintances who paid last respects to one who was highly respected and liked.

WHAT AN EDITOR SHOULD BE

Speaking at a luncheon at the William Pitt Hotel, Chatham, one day last week, George James, president C.W.N.A., guest of the Lake Erie and St. Clair Publishers Association, said an editor is:

A servant of the community, because he is expected to be ready at all times to give of his services, time and money to every community activity.

A preacher, because he must continually keep to the fore the same fundamentals of good living as the preacher.

A business man, because apart from everything else he must make enough money to provide for his family.

A builder, a moulder of public opinion, because he has the power to wield through his paper a tremendous influence for good in vital issues.

A policeman, because he must ever be on guard against those who would use community organizations for petty racketeering.

A booster, because he is expected to, and does, get behind every worthwhile activity in the community, sports, church, service clubs, parent bodies and educational institutions.

An historian, because each week he must compile the current history of his community for posterity (first news item).

A writer, because after all he wouldn't be much of an editor unless he could write.

A referee, because he must choose his news to give encouragement to those who need it, sympathy to those who are bereaved, comfort to those who are in trouble, and criticism to those who should receive it.

An employer of labor, because his business demands that he must employ labor, and must know how to treat labor fairly.

A student of municipal and government affairs. He must be this if he is to give leadership on public questions, and inform the public and interpret the new laws.

A cheer leader for his community, because he must ever be ready to boost his community as a place in which to live and work.

"MY FATHER SENT

ME TO VICTORIA"

The Alberta Conference of the United Church paid tribute to Rev. Dr. G. W. Kerby, the lively principal of Mount Royal College, Calgary, when at the recent sessions in Edmonton a gold-headed cane was presented to honor the fiftieth anniversary of Dr. Kerby's graduation and ordination.

At the dinner of the "Old Boys" of Victoria College, attention was called to another outstanding graduate, Rev. Dr. R. B. Steinhauer. It is just a century ago since his father registered at Victoria. The son received his degree of B.A. in 1887, and the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1937, the university's centenary year. As far as is known, he is the only member of the Indian race on this continent to be so honored. The two "Old Boys"—Dr. Kerby and Dr. Steinhauer—were called upon to render a duet, and, arm in arm, these two, whose voices were famous in their student days, sang in the real college spirit, "My Father Sent Me to Victoria," to the great delight of the audience.—J.P.B.

ON THE IMPORTANCE OF A SOLEMN PROMISE

While Premier Aberhart was repudiating a 2 million dollar Alberta bond maturity the other day, the soft-spoken Scotsman who heads the government of Nova Scotia was making this observation:

"In these days and in some places we have gotten away from the old idea of the importance of a promise. The spoken word, and even sometimes the solemn letter of the bond, are forgotten conveniently by the promiser.

"I believe that nothing but moral and economic chaos can come to a country where deceit of this sort is practised."—Ex.

James Paden, rancher in the Todd Creek district, is seen here hand-feeding two pet black bear cubs. The cubs have been practically milk fed since he took them in from a snowbank for shelter about two months ago.

A shortage of around $16,000 is reported by the auditors in the funds of the Drumheller municipal hospital. The former secretary-treasurer died in April last.

J. P. Ferguson, of Trochu, is the new president of the Alberta Elks Association, succeeding "Tex" Rickard, of Calgary. Tony McKinley, of Calgary, is secretary-treasurer.

The Coleman Journal of this week contains a very interesting letter from a pioneer missionary of that town, Rev. Canon R. A. Robinson, now of Barrington, Nova Scotia. Rev. Robinson organized what is today St. Alban's Anglican parish at Coleman, and he has ever since been interested in its progress and welfare.

At Clareholm last week, plain clothes officers, working in conjunction with the R.C.M.P., checked traffic towards the St. Hopkins dance for motor vehicle act infractions, and possibly that of liquid refreshments. A lot of drivers discovered that they really owned a second pair of pants, and that their driver's license was in the pockets of the pair they didn't have on to go to the dance. No casualties!

Is it fair to the people of this province that advertising in respect to tax sales of lands in towns and villages for unpaid taxes appear only in the Alberta Gazette? Take, for instance, in the June 15th issue appears a notice affecting 18 pieces of property within the limits of the village of Frank. We doubt if any one of the owners of the 18 pieces have seen, or have ever seen the Alberta Gazette, and were it not for this voluntary reference in their behalf, by us, they may have overlooked the matter.

A number of old-timers from this district purpose joining the crowd congregating from all over Canada and the Western States at Fernie on July 1st for the 40th anniversary celebration in that city. It will be a whole lot different to Aberhart's unwelcome invasion of Saskatchewan. In Fernie a right hearty welcome will be extended to all and sundry, and the invaders will not promise, but actually do something. We join with our contingent to Fernie in the wish for, not only a most joyous get-together and good time on July 1st and 2nd, but the hope that Fernie will yet live to see many a good day and prosperous times.

THAT WELL-OILED MACHINE

Our premier's alibi for his dismal showing is: "A well-oiled machine and vicious propaganda." Well, did he think the political parties in Saskatchewan were altogether dumb and would allow Alberta's Public Nuisance No. 1 to invade their province and ride over them rough-shod with his "storm troopers?" A province that has produced such men as the Hon. Charles Dunning, the Hon. J. G. Gardiner, the Hon. Dr. W. R. Motherwell, D'Arcy McGee, Walter Scott, W. M. Martin, Sir Frederick Haultain, and a host of other outstanding men who have fought to uphold British ideals and an united Canada, certainly could be depended upon to fight Aberhart and his Communist allies. It is a case of the pot calling the kettle black when our premier "squawks" of a "well-oiled machine and vicious propaganda." We wonder what he calls the several thousand Social Credit "groups" in this province that he created and frequently boasts about? We would say they are "a well-oiled political machine," and as for "vicious propaganda," that has been the breath of life for Mr. Wm. Aberhart even since he entered public life in Alberta.

While we are on the subject of political machines, although we prefer to call them "organizations" while Mr. Aberhart refers to his machine as "groups," it is our opinion that if the majority of Albertans want to rid the province of this Aberhart Blight, it will only be done by building up strong political organizations in every constituency of all those opposed to Social Credit. British Columbia and Saskatchewan have shown the way, and all Alberta needs to do is to follow their lead.—Trochu Tribune.

Aberhart found that the electors of Saskatchewan were of the full grown and intelligent variety—a disappointment to him.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Beck, of Fernie, left last week end on a motor trip to Edmonton, where they are visiting Mrs. Beck's sister, Mrs. Guy Johnson. They will continue from Edmonton to spend a couple of months in Ontario. They were accompanied to Edmonton by Miss Young, of Fernie.

Drs. Borden and McLean have handed in their resignations to the Coleman hospital board, to take effect July 15th. Dr. Borden purposes taking a practice at Pentteton, B.C., accompanied by Dr. Sweeney, while Dr. McLean will go to Harvard medical college in Boston for a postgraduate course. Dr. Borden has been in Coleman since 1926.

At the annual convention of the Union of Alberta Municipalities at Calgary last week end, Mayor D. H. Elton, of Lethbridge was elected president, with Councillor Neil Primrose, of Vegreville, vice-president; Mayor J. W. Fry, of Edmonton, second vice-president, and J. E. Fraser, Wetaskiwin city clerk, as secretary-treasurer.

We are all getting along fine, and enjoy the spirit of "disallowance" displayed at Ottawa. Why should any legislation be allowed that is intended to disrupt, not only our province, but the whole of Canada? Most any Tom, Dick or Harry can suggest some "necessary" legislation.

Yes, the Aberhart government has a record unequalled of its kind. In face of this record, Aberhart, Manning, Fallow, Maynard, Low, Tonny, Berg, McLachlan and all the rest of the unholy crew have the consummate nerve to invade our neighboring province with a view of creating the same grief as they already have in Alberta.—Vegreville Observer.

Anyone could establish a government and keep it going for years with the introduction of legislation that would stand questioning, thereby prolonging the burden of salaries upon the rate-paying public. That's just all that is happening in Alberta today. Apparently, no effort is being made at legislation such as would be questioned in provinces with sane governments.

This Big Customer

HAS A

HUGE APPETITE FOR WESTERN PRODUCE

THIS man is a composite of many thousands of Eastern industrial workers. He's a husky fellow and he burns up plenty of energy when he's busy.

It takes lots of Western food to keep him going. But when he's idle he goes off his feed so badly that even Western produce cannot tempt him.

Which is just another way of saying that an active industrial East typified by the Automotive Industry and the industries that supply its parts and raw materials—is vital to the well-being and prosperity of the agricultural West.

More than 6,000,000 lbs. of poultry; over 50,000,000 eggs; over 20,000,000 lbs. of butter and meats, live and dressed, to the value of over $15,000,000, were bought from the West last year by Eastern industrial payrolls. Your purchase of a Canadian-built car helps keep these payrolls active—and brings your good money back West again.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gilroy left Thursday last to spend a vacation at Vancouver and other coast points. Fred is being relieved at the Hillcrest depot by Mr. Roland LeDuce.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Cowley girls lost to the Lundbreck girls in a softball game on Friday afternoon last to the tune of 14-9.

Cowley boys went down to defeat to the Blairmore Cards on Friday evening in softball with the astounding score of 19-7.

Mr. and Mrs. Schumacher and daughter Dora, of Claresholm, spent several days here with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Matthews. Miss Dora will remain a few days before returning.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Tustian and Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Tustian, junior, attended the wedding of Mr. Bradford Tustian to Miss M. Stafford in Pincher Creek on Saturday.

Mrs. Harry Smyth entertained at tea at her home on Tuesday afternoon, in honor of Miss Marguerite Newburn, of Calgary, who was a guest for a few days.

The Todd Creek and Cowley baseball teams played here on Sunday afternoon last, with the home boys winning to the tune of 5-1.

In a practice game of baseball on Monday evening, Jack Welsh had the misfortune to get a finger broken when the ball hit it on the end. He was rushed to a doctor to have the offended member repaired.

We wonder if you have as wise (or foolish) robins in your town as we have here.

Showers of rain have been general here again this week. As we now write (Thursday evening) a heavy shower is falling.

A miscellaneous shower was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams on Wednesday evening of this week, when Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McMillan lent their home for the occasion. Cards formed the chief amusement of the evening, court whist being played, at which prizes were won as follows: Mrs. Noel Cox, ladies' first; Miss Crayford, consolation; Duart Smith, gent's first; Floyd Scott, consolation. A large crowd was in attendance, and the young couple were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents. Mr. and Mrs. Williams will make their home on a ranch north of Lundbreck.

In spite of all his failures, Mr. Aberhart appeared on the air Sunday last with the regular line of "stuff." Two or three letters from Saskatchewanites who fell for his promises, were read to his audience. In no case were the names of the authors quoted, probably orthodox anonymous matter.

NEWS FROM EDMONTON

(By T. B. Windsor)

Edmonton, Alberta, June 20.—The Alberta Social Credit government this week received another blow to its prestige, this time one that was expected from the start, when two more of its key acts, the Home Owners' Security and the Securities Tax acts were disallowed by the federal government.

Never before has any provincial government in Canada built up such a record of ultra vires legislation as the Aberhart administration. Amateurs of the simplest character in law making could not have accomplished more in this direction and comment is freely heard in Edmonton as to what sort of legal advice the cabinet is availing itself of in order to formulate so many "invalid and half-baked pieces of legislation."

And this is not yet, according to reports issued from Ottawa by the federal authorities. Seven more laws passed by the Aberhart administration are under consideration. Premier Aberhart has been set whirling like a disappointed schoolboy about the most trivial financial and constitutional issues, charging that the Mackenzie King government is under the thumb of the financial interests, and laying the fault at the door of every body and everything except where it belongs, at the door of those who have been advising him in his experience and ignorance of legislation and laws regarding what will be within and what without his powers.

It is not to be expected, however, that Premier Aberhart himself, even though he is the attorney-general of Alberta, would know anything about legal matters. A preacher is usually the worst kind of authority on practical and legal questions outside the domain of theology or church history. Mr. Aberhart is not even a recognized authority by the churches on either of these subjects, and by the legal profession he must be looked upon as an interloper without experience or knowledge in matters relating to the constitution or the laws of the land.

In view of the present situation and outlook in Alberta, there is interest here in the comments made the other day by Hon. J. Earl Lawson, member of the house of commons for South York, who is being mentioned prominently now as a possibility for the national leadership of the Conservative party.

"Everyone realizes," Mr. Lawson said in a speech at Toronto, "that you never can have unemployment insurance, minimum wages, maximum hours of labor, or national health insurance on a provincial basis. If these measures are ever to be passed, they must be enacted by a national government and administered nationally. In other words, progress we must have an amendment of the British North America act to re-define the powers of the national parliament as against those of the provincial legislatures."

"Any government in power in any province, fearful of the cry that it is interfering with the freedom of movement of the B.N.A. act which entails giving up power and jurisdiction which they now have. Mr. Bennett, on behalf of the Conservative party, has suggested that we call a national conference with respect to the matter, that conference to consist of representatives of the government of Canada, of the Conservative opposition, of the C.C.F. and of the Social Credit party, and of representatives of the government and of the opposition in each provincial legislature."

"If you gathered together in one conference the representatives of all the phases of political thought like that public opinion would force an agreement between them as to surrendering jurisdiction from the provinces to the Dominion, so that necessary and beneficial measures might be enacted by the parliament of Canada."

"We have serious problems in Canada: the railway problem, duplication of taxation, excessive taxation made necessary by the duplication of national and provincial services, and the alleged inequitable burden of protective tariffs on the western provinces. But none is more serious and persistent than the problem of unemployment, because every unemployed man not merely ceases to be a contributor to the carrying of the tax burden, but he himself becomes a burden on the working taxpayers of the country."

"If we are to progress we must solve these problems. They never will be solved by the advocacy of provincial and sectional interests. They will be solved only by policies national in their aspect, and policies which have behind them the support of the united people, united in a common objective to advance the national interest."

"The problems far transcend party politics. Canada's crying need today is for unity—for co-operation between provincial governments and the Dominion with a common purpose of solving our problems of unemployment, taxation and the burden of municipal taxation upon home-owners; for co-operation to serve not merely a province or a section, but all serving all Canada. We need an operation to avoid setting creed against creed, French against English, need co-operation to avoid setting farmer against labor, labor against farmer, and both against capital."

"Can the Social Credit party do it? Their failure, for three years of trial in Alberta, of the Utopian dream that you can create wealth and then distribute it by entering figures in a book screams NO!"

Boy Scouts of North Toronto are co-operating with the board of control in a war to eliminate ragweed from that area.

PREMIER ABERHART'S ALIBIS

Following is an extract from a letter by J. J. Zubick, to the Calgary Herald of Wednesday's date:

"If Mr. Aberhart would be so good as to provide specific proof of the alleged 'falsified propaganda,' instead of denying rumors about the color of his non-existent hair and about his dead grandfather, in neither of which the public has the slightest interest, one would be compelled to at least consider the evidence. But the public may by now be pardoned for declining to accept his bald assertions at the value he places upon them."

"His cheapest excuse of all is his claim that his followers are not 'praying hard enough.' Undoubtedly, many of the world's ills are due to our failure to 'take them to the Lord in prayer'; but to encourage the delusion that prayer could induce the Almighty to assume the role of a magician to perform tricks with money fountain-pen money just to satisfy the whims of a political puppeteer, is going too far. Quite obviously, Mr. Aberhart is but working up an alibi here to wiggle out of his responsibility by seeking to put the blame for his blunders upon the people. He must not be permitted to get away with it."

Departmental examinations are in progress at the local schools.

WHERE DOES ALL THE MONEY COME FROM?

MORE than four and one-half million depositors in Canada have "money in the bank."

They are satisfied to leave their money on deposit because Canada's chartered banks are ready and able to pay back promptly every cent when the depositor calls for it.

These deposits in the chartered banks total roughly $2,262,000,000—approximately 10 per cent of which they carry in cash—in other words Bank of Canada money or "legal tender."

Some people do not fully understand banking operations and might ask:

1. What have the banks got to represent our deposits if they do not have it all in cash?

2. How can the banks repay our deposits, over $2,262,000,000, with the amount of cash they hold?

The answer to No. 1 is: Look at any bank balance sheet and you will see for yourself that a bank owns more than it owes. That is to say, half of all its depositors were paid off and all of its other debts paid, a balance would be left belonging to the shareholders.

That should answer your first question satisfactorily. And now for No. 2:

Look again at a bank balance sheet and you will see that in addition to the cash it holds, the bank owns assets quickly convertible into cash, or which can be used to borrow from the Bank of Canada.

Experience has taught banks the amount of cash it is necessary to carry to meet ordinary day to day demands, and also the proportion it is necessary to carry in extra-ordinary demands which can be liquidated to meet even any gift-edged demand. Banks know that it is absurd to expect all depositors to call for their money at the same time.

That would be like saying that if everybody got sick at the same time there would not be room in the hospitals to take care of them.

Or that if everybody who travels by street car decided to travel at exactly the same hour, there would not be enough cars to carry them.

Or that if every person who carries life insurance died on the same day all the claims could not be met.

Or that if every sea were drained dry there would be no ocean liners.

Such statements are meaningless when you expose them to the cold light of common sense.

Where, then, does all the money come from? That question can be answered by asking this one: Who owns it—and how do they get it?

Addressing ourselves to 4,740,000 depositors we answer: "This money is yours. You own it. When you call for it, you get it. When you ask any existing Canadian bank for it, do you ever fail to get it promptly?"

We ask you, too: "Do you regard your deposit as figures in a book?"

When somebody wants to change all your business and economic methods and by some mysterious magic to bring about overnight a promised millennium of prosperity, ask what success such a thing has made of handling his own affairs, before you back his theory.

Bank deposits reflect tangible wealth produced. Every dollar we owe to you—our depositors—is backed by many dollars in real assets.

Canada's chartered banks not only serve the individual well, they are a great factor in the building of the nation.

The Hawker Hurricane

Fastest Fighting Plane in Air Force Service Belongs To Britain

Britain has now in commission the fastest fighting machine in service in any air force. It is the Hawker Hurricane, the plane that made the trip to Edinburgh at 408 miles an hour, but that has been kept on the semi-secret list until just recently. Now it has been issued to the squadrons.

On its record-breaking trip it was helped by a strong tail wind, and its real top speed is not known to any outside the Air Ministry and the pilots, but observers guess it can do between 300 and 335 miles an hour. This would give it 250 miles as cruising speed for patrol work. Its tank capacity will allow it to do 700 miles without refuelling, a record achievement for its kind.

It can climb to 15,000 feet in six minutes and to 30,000 before the rate of climb drops to 100 feet a minute. It weighs 2½ tons, tucks its undercarriage beneath it when it takes to the air, carries six Browning machine guns and is considered a little thing to have around when bombers come over. The British people saw it in action on Empire Air Day—Toronto Telegram.

Carried Out His Promise

Admiral Of Roosevelt Ate Editorial Page Made Into Cake

Robert Jones, an admirer of President Roosevelt, thought newspapers were too critical of his policies. He announced that he would eat the first editorial in a Dallas newspaper that spoke kindly of him. The Dallas Journal carried an editorial praising a proposal of Mr. Roosevelt. Jones took the entire editorial page to a chemist, had it converted into glucose and dextrin and baked into a cake. In the presence of a party of friends, including Lynn Landrum, author of the editorial, he ate the cake.

Get Rid Of Flies

Not a single fly should be permitted to live

When you consider the millions of flies that may be bred if even one single female house-fly is allowed to mature, it is obvious to what extent these carriers of "typhoid" and other disease germs are a menace to any community where they are permitted to multiply.

Flies are no respecters of persons. The baby in the millionaire's home or the workman's cottage are equally in danger if proper care is not exercised to keep flies from entering the home. Flies frequent the filthiest feeding places outside the home, then, if allowed inside, carry dangerous germs to feeding bottles, liquids, foods, everything that is left exposed.

The important point then is to "clean-up" thoroughly wherever potential breeding places exist—out-of-doors, around the house. And, to make doubly sure, screen all windows and doors and cover all milk and food wherever exposed. If these precautions were followed by everybody, it would go a long way to solve the fly problem. But, we are most of us apt to be thoughtless of others, perhaps, and so the flies have a new lease on life.

If flies do get into your home, a clean, quick way to kill them as they come is to place Wilson's Fly Paste in convenient places around the house till fly-time is definitely over. Just a little care and thoughtfulness for the other fellow is the way to make the health authorities dream of a fly-less community come true.

CAPE FROCKS ARE SLIMMING

By Anne Adams

Fashion cries "Dravo!" to Anne Adams' utterly charming new dress design garnished with capes—Pattern 4830! How cleverly it gives the figure new dimensions with its striking panels! The centre bodice sections are eased into the pointed waistline of the front panel to produce an unusually flattering softness. Make the cape in self fabric—a filmy sheer or a pliable floral crepe (or a fine lace, if you want contrast), with the neckline bow to harmonize. Whether you choose the cape or the brief sleeve, you'll have a frock to wear everywhere, and no way to sew that you'll really relish your task.

Pattern 4830 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 4¼ yards 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included. Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly: Size, Name, Address and Style Number and send order to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 176 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg.

Motor Accidents Appalling

100,000 Lives Lost In United States In 1937

The National Safety Council announced accidents in the United States claimed 100,000 lives in 1937—a total more than twice as large as the number of American lives lost in the Great War. Injuries disabled 9,000,000 persons, at least one member in every fourth family. The calculable costs of all accidents ran to $3,600,000,000. Motor vehicle accidents caused 39,500 deaths, 1,360,000 persons injured and an economic loss of $1,700,000,000.

THE STORES OF CHEMISTRY IN EVERYDAY LIFE

BY DR. H. G. LITTLE

From Wood Pulp To Transparent Film

Of the many products made by the chemist using cellulose as a raw material, none has had a more rapid or sensational rise than transparent cellulose film, best known by the trade-name "Cellophane." Made by a process invented by Brandenberger, a Swiss chemist working in France, and first used chiefly in making women's hats, this material is now used for literally hundreds of different purposes. Although first made in Canada in 1932, the growth of transparent cellulose film has increased very rapidly.

Cellulose Comes From Wood

Transparent cellulose film and rayon are true sisters, both being the children of cellulose from the spruce tree and cotton linters. In the case of rayon, a cellulose solution made by treating purified wood pulp or cotton linters with a long soda and carbon bisulphide is forced through the microscopic holes of a "spinneret" into a chemical bath. This changes the tiny streams of "liquid cellulose" back into filaments of solid cellulose. In the manufacture of transparent cellulose film, the viscous solution is forced out into the chemical bath through a long narrow slit instead of a spinneret, and the result is a thin film of cellulose. Further chemical and physical operations—bleaching, washing, etc., leave the completed film transparent, sparkling, strong, flexible, odorless, oil-proof, air-proof, gas-proof and germ-proof.

While transparent cellulose film made in this way, and coloured with dyes if desired, found wide applications as a wrapping material, chemists soon realized that a way should be found to make this material moistureproof in order to extend its usefulness as a wrapper for goods which quickly become dry and stale. After several years of experimental work in the laboratory, a moistureproof film was perfected which led to a revolution in packaging. When wrapped in this moistureproof film, cigars and cigarettes retained their desirable characteristics for a much longer period. The waste in cakes and other bakery products was greatly reduced because this moistureproof film spread to fruits and other perishable foods, until to-day the average grocery store contains dozens of products kept fresh by it. It is generally considered to-day that this transparent film is an aid to public health since foodstuffs, textiles and other items are not so readily contaminated with disease germs.

In addition to its use for wrapping all kinds of articles, transparent cellulose film is used for many other purposes. In the form of narrow ribbons it is woven into attractive fabric for curtains. Fifty thousand yards of sparkling cellulose film were used to make the moonbeams in the motion picture presentation of "A Mid-Summer Night's Dream" in the theatre. It has been used for costumes, in the radio world for making sound effects, by surgeons as an outside dressing so that the progress of wounds might be observed, and on the farm as a cover for early plants

Dr. David Jones, Professor of Mining at the University College, Cardiff, told the South Wales Institute of Engineering 889 silicosis certificates had been issued in a little more than six years among the 21,332 underground anthracite workers, 1,515 among 116,465 workers in all South Wales mines, and 1,738 among 627,886 underground workers in the whole United Kingdom.

Dr. Jones suggested the possibility of reducing the hazard by minimum use of explosives in mines, contending their use is one of the major causes of noxious dust. He also drew attention to beneficial results attained through use of a respirator to protect workers from dust.

(Research work carried on at the McIntyre gold mine at Porcupine, Ont., in co-operation with the Banting Institute at Toronto, indicated mine dust carrying silica which dissolves in the lung, inducing the disease, may be rendered harmless by spraying aluminum dust into the mines.)

SHARING SERVICE WITH THE LIVING CHRIST

Golden text: And they went forth, and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them. Mark 16:20. Lesson: Mark 16:1-8, 14-16, 19-10. Devotional reading: Psalm 16:1, 2, 7-11.

Explanations And Comments

He Is Risen! Mark 16:1-8. It was very early on the first day of the week that a little group of women, Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, and Salome, went to the tomb of Jesus carrying spices for the anointing of his body.

Heavy-hearted were they, without hope, as they approached the sepulchre, saying among themselves: "Who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the tomb?"

On entering the sepulchre the women saw a young man sitting there, and they were amazed. Luke says that they were frightened, and bowed down before their faces to the earth. Luke 24:4. Be not amazed," the young man cried: "Ye seek Jesus, the Nazarene, who hath been crucified: he is risen: he is not here."

"Behold the place where they laid him," continued the young man. The tomb as seen by Peter and John is described in John 20:5-7. "But go," you have gazed long enough at the empty tomb; go and make known to the disciples—and especially to Peter the word of the Lord. The Occupant has arisen, and that will meet them in Galilee as he has promised them. See Matt. 28:32. Trembling and astonished the women silently fled. Matthew, Luke and John report that they delivered the message to the disciples.

The Great Commission, Mark 16:7. To the eleven disciples Jesus said, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to the whole creature. He has stood on the shores of a great river and watched the mighty burdens which it bears so swiftly on its surface, and then in thought has gone back to the river's small beginning which we call its source. And when he contemplates the victory of Christ in all the world we are interested in going back to the few elements which we call the Great Commission.

Research May Have Remedy

To Make Harmless The Dust Which Affects Miners

South Wales authorities, like those in some of Canada's hard-rock mining centres, are worried over the high incidence of silicosis among the country's coal miners, especially those employed below ground in the anthracite mines.

Analysis of medical certificates granted those suffering from the dread disease—a lung condition induced by inhaling dust which frequently leads to tuberculosis—shows 4.2 per cent of those working in anthracite mines contract the disease. The rate for all underground workers in the United Kingdom is 3 per cent, and for South Wales 1.3 per cent.

Dr. David Jones, Professor of Mining at the University College, Cardiff, told the South Wales Institute of Engineering 889 silicosis certificates had been issued in a little more than six years among the 21,332 underground anthracite workers, 1,515 among 116,465 workers in all South Wales mines, and 1,738 among 627,886 underground workers in the whole United Kingdom.

GOLDEN APPLES

It is generally believed now that those golden apples in the old Greek legend were really oranges, the oranges of Spain which were remote sources of the wonderful oranges of the Greeks at that time.

The casualness with which they tossed them from one to another in those days seems amazing but no more amazing than the casualness with which we obtain oranges to-day would have seemed to the ancient Greeks. This one rare fruit comes to us from many greater distances than the Greeks ever conceived of. Besides the fruit from the Spanish States we get beautiful oranges from Palestine and the Desert of Arabia.

Here are two easily-made desserts of quick-cooking tapioca cream, containing eggs, milk, tapioca, and oranges to make a wonderfully nutritious dish. Among other food values, oranges contain iron, one of the few elements which help lack of, so altogether the balance is nearly perfect.

Orange Tapioca Cream
½ cup quick-cooking tapioca
½ cup sugar
½ cup milk, scalded
1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
1 egg white, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon orange extract
4 oranges, sections free from membrane

Combine quick-cooking tapioca, sugar, salt, egg yolk, and milk in top of double boiler and stir enough to moisten. Add oranges and rapidly boiling water, bring to scalding point (allow 5 to 7 minutes), and cook five minutes, stirring. Remove from boiling water. Fold a small amount into egg white; add to remaining tapioca mixture and blend. Cook mixture thickens as it cools. When slightly cool, add flavoring; Place four sections orange in bottom of individual serving dishes and cover with tapioca mixture. Garnish with additional orange sections. Serves 8.

Chantilly Orange Tapioca
½ cup water
½ cup quick-cooking tapioca
½ cup milk, scalded
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup orange juice
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
½ cup cream, whipped
Place water in top of double boiler and bring to a boil over direct heat. Combine dry ingredients; add gradually to water and bring to a brisk boil. Stir mixture and blend. Remove from rapidly boiling water and cook five minutes, stirring occasionally. Add orange juice and rind. Mixture clears and thickens as it cools. When slightly cool, add orange juice and rind. Chill; fold in cream. Place lightly in sherbet glasses. Just before serving, garnish with very fine sections of orange rind, free from all white membrane. Serves 6.

Historic Sites

Perpetuating Events And Work Accomplished by Previous Generations

The annual meeting of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada, held in Ottawa recently, brings into prominence once again the work done by this organization. Canada's story has not been a prosaic one, and the chapters are punctuated by events of the most stirring kind. The board sees to it that these events do not fade out of the public memory.

During the past 20 years some thousand places, where Canada's growth started into more than ordinary drama, have been examined by the board; 256 of them have been labelled "historic" events, and have been commemorated by a tablet or monument. Several museums have been established. During 1937, 18 sites were marked throughout the Dominion. There are still about a hundred sites worthy of such recognition.

This work is carried on quietly and unobtrusively, but it is none the less important. It is good for the rising generations to know about the wise and brave deeds of the men and women who have gone before. The present is made more meaningful as traditions of heroism and foresight are kept in memory, Canada's future can be as glorious as her past!—Winnipeg Free Press.

"I warn you, Punder, that defamation of character is a dangerous pastime," barked Sir Peter. "There are laws—"

"You should know all about the laws," sneered Punder. "You've kept just inside 'em long enough. So come off your high horse, Pete Tyler. You and your crowd are going to listen to some home truths. You know Sir Peter and the others sat down, looking sulky and apprehensive. Ernest sat down looking blank.

"I wanted P.P.P. and you knew it," Punder fumed.

"That's not so," declared Sir Peter. "How should I know your plans?"

"I suppose you expect me to believe that you haven't got wind of the fact that I'm organizing E.P. and D.S.," said Punder.

"Never heard of it," said Sir Peter. "Don't even know what it is."

"Empire Food and Drink Syndicate," said Punder, "and when it goes through—and it is going through, 90 per cent. of all the consumers of ale, beer, jam and other staple foods in Great Britain and her colonies will have to pay tribute to E.P. and D.S.—and that means yours truly."

"Really? And you wanted Purico Pork Products for a link in your chain?" Sir Peter said. "Well, why didn't you come to me? You knew I held a controlling interest in P.P.P."

"Because I knew you'd come to me," said Punder. "Well, you fooled me. You knew it's a hard bargain so you rigged up this dummy auction and palmed it off on this gull—"

"He jerked a thumb at Ernest—"

"—and now that he's got P.P.P., what's he going to do with it?"

"His plans may surprise you, Punder," said Sir Peter. "Mr. Bingley is not alone in this. He has associates—Mr. Otis G. Wyncoop—for example—"

"Hah!" ejaculated Punder. "I've heard of Wyncoop. Dashed good sausage man, Sir."

"And," went on Sir Peter, "I have been given to understand that unlimited capital is available in the States to back a corporation which will make your little E.P. and D.S. look like a corner grocery."

Punder said "Hah," but it was a weak end worried "Hah."

"Since Mr. Bingley has P.P.P. and I have an engagement, I bid you good-day," said Sir Peter and made ready to leave.

Then Ernest took the brake off his tongue.

"Wait," he said.

"Well?" said Sir Peter.

"You've made a mistake," said Ernest. "I had no intention of buying P.P.P. or A.B.C. of whatever it is for two and a half million dollars—"

"My dear Mr. Bingley," said Sir Peter, and he spoke with frigid finality, "you made a bargain, in the presence of witnesses, and I shall hold you to it. These gentlemen will testify to your bid and its acceptance."

tile, indicated that they were prepared to tell a judge and jury that Ernest was guilty of breach of promise, and asserted facts.

Then they strode out behind Sir Peter leaving Ernest in the clutches of Hubert Punder. Ernest would have ducked out through the door had not Punder plugged it with his pounce.

"Talk," said Punder.

Ernest resumed his imitation of the Sphinx.

"I'll say something then," said Punder. "Just two words: How much?"

Ernest was as voiceless as a newt. "You can't do anything with P.P.P. and you know it, ragged Punder. This is just another piece of Yankee piracy. Well, speak up. What's the ransom?"

Ernest did not speak up.

"You and your precious combine!" cried Punder. "You and your unlimited capital! Going to buck me, hey? Going to snatch British concerns from under Punder's nose, hey? Well, you can't kick Punder around, see—"

Ernest began to see something quite clearly. He began to see that in that off-hand, informal way natural to men used to the tenet of Big Business that credit is based on reputation, Sir Peter and his fellow conspirators had sold him a property for two and a half million dollars, and now Mr. Punder wanted to buy it from him with no more ceremony than if it were a pound of dog-biscuits.

Of late Ernest had faced the music so often that he would spin round at a piccolo note. He faced the music now, and it was sweet music. A hard, resolute smile came to his face, Mr. Punder saw it. Mr. Punder said, "Well, have you made up your mind just how much you're going to hold me up for?"

Ernest retained his smile but no syllable fell from his lips.

"I'll give you a quick profit of five thousand pounds," said Punder. "Not bad for a day's work, hey?"

Ernest felt that it was indeed adequate compensation for his efforts. Five notes at a thousand pounds each did not certainly make him the highest paid nodder in the world. However, he did not nod. He shook his head.

"Ten thousand. Take it or leave it," said Punder.

Ernest got out a pair of words. "No go," he said.

Punder's color went from cerise to plum.

"How much do you want?" he snarled.

"Twenty."

"Twenty?"

"Twenty."

"You're a crook."

"Twenty."

"You're a scoundrel."

"Twenty."

"All right," said Mr. Punder. "Twenty it is."

A slow train carried Ernest back to Pennyton. On the way he took out his forgotten lunch. The cheese and pudding had become one grubby blob. He ate the mixture anyhow. It tasted like ambrosia to him.

CHAPTER XIV.

"Father's late for breakfast—and on his birthday, too," said Lady Rosa Bingley. "That's not like Father. He must be in the dumps."

"In the dumps," thought Ernest, came under the head of understatements as a description of the feelings of a man about to be ousted from his ancestral home. He walked out at her morning tea. She looked so pertty and seemed so gay.

"You're a good sport, Rosa," Ernest said.

"I? Why?"

"Acting the way you're acting."

"Father's birthday," she said. "We can get out the sackcloth and ashes later. More tea, Ernest?"

"Yes, thank you."

As she poured the tea, Rosa said, "When you were in London I took a walk. I went down to oak tree and sat in the branches. All by myself. What do you think I found?"

"Squirrels?"

"Acorns?"

"No. Also I found that somebody had carved our initials in the tree—R and E inside a heart."

"Must have been the pookies," said Ernest.

"No doubt. Oh, I say, I hear Father's step. We must sing 'Happy Birthday to You.'"

"What shall I call him?" whispered Ernest, hurriedly. "In the song I mean. I can't sing 'Happy Birthday, dear Papa.'"

"Why not just 'dear him Father'?" said Lady Rosa and her cheeks matched the strawberry jam with which she was anointing a muffin.

The Earl of Bingley entered the dining room, smothered for a last potting, and showed no outward signs of inner doldrums.

I found sweetening my morning cereal with BEE HIVE Syrup aids digestion.

TRY IT TOMORROW

Rising Lady Rosa and Ernest sang.

"Happy Birthday to you, Happy Birthday to you, Happy Birthday, dear Father, Happy Birthday to you."

The earl grinned and bowed.

"Thank you, thank you, thank you," he said, and took his place at the head of the table.

"Great age—sixty," he remarked. "A man's just old enough to laugh at his youthful follies and just young enough to want to repeat 'em. Pass the coddled eggs, please."

He picked up his napkin.

"My word, what's this?" he exclaimed, holding up some fat packages. He opened the first. It contained a necktie from Rosa, the soft women buy, dove gray with lavender posties on it.

"A million thanks, my dear child. It's just what I needed," said the earl, and put it on at once. The second was a pair of gaudy braces and a card inscribed, "Many happy returns. C. Crump."

"Thanks most awfully, Crump," said the earl. "I needed these—and how!" Being hold my bags up with my twine."

He opened the third gift, an envelope. He stared and stared at its contents with that look of extreme surprise known in motion pictures as a "Take-em."

"That's he shouted. 'Give me tea!'"

"Father! What is it?" cried Rosa.

"The notes! Punder's notes. Marked 'Fall in Full'. Tea! Tea!"

"Oh, Father, how wonderful," exclaimed Lady Rosa, and began to cry.

"The earl looked as if he were going to cry too, but Crump thrust a cup of steaming tea before him, and that useful national beverage enabled his lordship to hide his feelings.

"Talking of miracles," said the earl, coming from behind his tea-cup. "Ernest, my dear young scawling, if I live to be a hundred, and I fully expect to, I can't thank you enough for what you have done."

"I?" said Ernest.

"I don't mean Donald Duck," said the earl. "Who but you could have been so generous? Besides you're no good at hiding things, you know. You look as innocent as a mouse caught red-handed in a cheese-monger's, that is, if one can catch a mouse red-handed. Stop blubbering, you big baby, and eat your coddled eggs," this last to Rosa.

"I'll blub-blub-blubber if I want to," returned his daughter.

"Blubber on, my little gypsy sweetheart," said the earl. "But you might cease firing long enough to thank Ernest."

"I do thank Ernest," said Rosa, smiling through her tears. "I thank you, Ernest, with all my heart."

"Forget about it," said Ernest. "I wasn't much to do for you—I mean—since I'm a sort of Bingley, too—"

"You might say—"

"I do say," said the earl. "You're a double-barreled, high-caliber, true Bingley—and no mistake. I never tasted better coddled eggs. Have some more, Ernest."

"Thank you, sir."

"And," said the earl, lading out the eggs, "I'll pay you back. I can't say when. Fact is we've barely enough to keep up the old place as it is. However, if the apple crop is good, and the harvest lay, I think we'll be able to pay you the interest."

"Never mind the interest," said Ernest.

"Oh, go get yourself measured for a halo and a harp," said the earl. "Of course I'll pay the interest. But you, there I've gone and spilled eggs on my nice new tie."

Indian Problem

To Set Aside Areas in North Where Natives May Pursue Ancient Vocations

New methods of dealing with Canada's increasing Indian problem were outlined in the House of Commons by Hon. T. A. Crerar, minister of resources and superintendent general of Indian affairs.

A program setting aside huge areas in the north country where Indians may pursue their ancient vocation of trapping and hunting undisturbed by the white man is one of the projects now under way.

It will also be the endeavor to educate Indians along lines enabling them to earn their living in their own environment and at work for which they are adapted, rather than in occupations more natural to the white race.

Mr. Hon. R. B. Bennett, opposition leader, declaring he was proud of the manner in which Canada had cared for her Indian wards, urged educational efforts along lines that would ensure the Indian an opportunity of supporting himself in the manner for which he was best adapted.

Mr. Crerar said plans were already under way in the Northwest Territories to stock large areas with beaver and to restrict those areas to the use of Indians in an effort to revive the fur trade.

Inroads by white trappers and hunters had almost destroyed the hunting and trapping by which Indians used to support themselves.

Other efforts to improve their lot would be to train Indians as guides and forest workers, in woodcraft and beadwork, so authentic Indian craft would be available for purchase by tourists. They were also being trained as guides and attendants in national parks.

In recent years Indian schools had trained young boys and girls in the ways of the white race. They were taught to use modern electrical appliances and to observe the amenities of modern life in the cities, the minister said.

Indian scholars on leaving such schools returned, in the majority of cases, to their reserves, where this knowledge was of no benefit to them, with the exception of what they had learned of health and hygienic habits.

Mr. Bennett suggested such school graduates obtain, on returning to the reserves, found themselves at a disadvantage as compared with their contemporaries who had remained at home.

In recent years, thanks to education and medical care furnished by the federal government in increasing measure, the Indian population had increased from 118,000 to approximately 118,000 in all Canada.

"The population was increasing at the rate of about 1 1/2 per cent. A similar problem would eventually be found in respect to the Eskimos in the western Arctic, Mr. Crerar forecast.

Everest Wins Again

This Year's British Climbers Forced Back By Monsoon

The Kalmpong (Bengal) correspondent of the London Daily Mail reported that the British 1938 expedition attempting to scale Mount Everest had been forced to retire to the Kharta Valley to recuperate.

All seven members are safe, it was said, but the majority are weak from the after-effects of influenza.

The expedition, headed by W. W. Tilmann, did not penetrate far beyond the 23,000-foot "jumping-off" point for the final climb to the peak, the dispatch said.

An early southwest monsoon, responsible for the failure of many previous attempts, ripped across the face of the mountain, making further climbing impossible. It was not believed that another attempt would be made this year.

The Russian Way

Because he "destroyed" 600,000 mulberry trees, Y. Kanowevich, the former head of the Armenian silk trust, was sentenced to die in front of a Russian firing squad. How did he destroy all those trees? Actually the trees were destroyed by silk-worm parasites. How killing the parasites of the trust will improve conditions is more than we can understand.

Canadian Artists

Wider Representation in National Gallery Is Urged

Wider representation of Canadian artists in the national gallery at Ottawa was urged in the House of Commons by Opposition Leader Bennett.

Mr. Bennett thought several ranking Canadian artists had been overlooked and that there were some pictures on display that did not "dignify" the gallery. He also suggested one picture labelled "Van Dyck" which he thought should have the word "after" placed in front of the artist's name.

Works Minister Cardin agreed Canadian artists should be encouraged to every possible extent. He would refer Mr. Bennett's remarks to the board of trustees now operating the gallery.

"The last time I visited the gallery," Mr. Bennett said, "I certainly found a dearth of pictures by one or two artists who, I think, might fairly be classified as ranking Canadian artists."

There is a substantial number of Canadian artists who are not at all adequately represented in the gallery. On my last visit I tried to make effective criticism of some pictures there but did not succeed.

"Certainly they do not dignify the gallery, whereas some of the paintings by those who are not represented would ornament almost any gallery in the world. It would be unfair to particularize."

For A Better Balance

Unwarranted Pessimism Is Always A Destructive Force

In what might be referred to loosely as "Pre-Depression" days much was heard of the tremendous resources, remarkable accomplishments, and promising future of this Dominion. Since that time, a more gloomy outlook has apparently been cast fashionable on the part of a good many persons. The accomplishments are overlooked, the achievements minimized, and only dark days are seen ahead.

It seems unfortunate that a more balanced outlook could not be maintained. Unbounded optimism has undoubtedly played a part in creating some of the problems Canada is facing to-day—but the opposite outlook of unwarranted pessimism is certainly as destructive, if not more so.

His Busy Week

On his week-end call recently a commercial traveller was about to receive a small order, when he started searching through his pockets.

Trooping Of The Color

Canadians Among Thousands Who Cheered King George At His 60th Birthday

Thousands, including Canadians, swarmed the sun-hit Mall to cheer the King as he rode with the Dukes of Gloucester and Kent to take the salute at the historic ceremony of the Trooping of the Color on his "official" birthday.

His Majesty, mounted on a chestnut charger and wearing the scarlet and gold uniform of Colonel-in-Chief of the Scots Guards, with the blue ribbon of the Order of the Garter across his tunic, led the glittering cavalcade from Buckingham Palace to the Horse Guards Parade.

The Duke of Gloucester wore the uniform of Colonel of the Scots Guards and the Duke of Kent that of Colonel of the Royal Fusiliers.

Queen Mary and Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret drove to the parade with a queen's escort of Life Guards. As they drove from the palace across military attaches and members of the council saluted, and the crowd burst into cheers as the carriage rounded the Victoria Memorial.

Queen Elizabeth was unable to attend. Her Majesty was at Windsor, recovering from a cold.

Can Be Overdone

Pastures Likely To Be Impoverished By Too Much Grazing

One way to clear brush and weeds from land is to turn in goats enough to keep the bushes stripped bare and the weeds clipped close to the ground until the roots have starved, says A. T. Temple, of the United States Soil Conservation Service. "But," he adds, "unintentional use of practically this same plan is responsible for the impoverishment and erosion of many desirable pastures."

Many farmers, he points out, graze so many animals on their grasslands for so long a season that the tops of the good grass plants have no chance to feed the roots and store food reserves necessary for growth. The result is disappearance of the best grasses and a lowering of grazing in quality and quantity. The remaining thin cover of grass or weeds holds less of the rain that falls. As a consequence, such close-cropped pastures are likely to suffer erosion by wind and water. —St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Fled: Human Bones Believed To Be Remains Of A Geologist

John Work, head clerk of the Ontario department of mines, said he had received a letter from Cochrane, Ont., telling of the discovery near there by a trapper of a pile of human bones, a bag of decomposed rocks and a geologist's magnifying glass in a four by six-inch metal box.

"I believe it will be possible to trace the dead man's identity through this box," said Mr. Work. "From its description it sounds like the equipment used by the Hudson's Bay Company geologists of 50 years ago."
